

Welcome to

Vegas Club

A wide-angle, nighttime photograph of the New York-New York Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas. The image captures the iconic replica of the Eiffel Tower, brightly lit with golden lights, standing prominently on the right side. To its left, the Paris Las Vegas hotel buildings are visible, also illuminated. In the foreground, the Bellagio Fountains are in full operation, with multiple jets of water spraying upwards and outwards, creating a dynamic focal point. The surrounding cityscape is filled with various other buildings, some with neon signs, and a street with light trails from cars is visible. The sky is a deep, clear blue. The entire image is framed by a decorative border with a repeating geometric pattern.
